We are blessed with some incredible photographers in WA

Shana Eaton

Carmel College Seventh-day Adventist Church

I love my family and friends and being out taking photos in nature. God's creativity truly knows no bounds and I love finding those different perspectives that helps me find His beauty in a way that I might not have seen it before.

Ellie Morris

Geraldton Seventh-day Adventist Church

I'm a photographer with a love for genuine and candid storytelling and appreciating the everyday. Having grown up in WA's wheatbelt, I've always been surrounded by wide open spaces and big all-embracing sunsets. I love the timeless beauty that can be found in the everyday moments of rural life.

Bill Belson

Geraldton Seventh-day Adventist Church

Photography, and an interest in the natural world started for me in my youth. In my early adult years I did pray that God would help and bless me as I wanted to do well. Over the years I have had numerous pictures used in calendars, books and magazines through a photo library called Lochman Transparencies. Now, at the age of 61 years I still love getting out in Gods creation. These days it's mostly birds that capture my attention and especially migratory birds. Time spent in nature is the best therapy.

Lawreen McIver

Rossmoyne Seventh-day Adventist Church

The advent of the digital camera has opened my world to our amazing Creator God. The colours, shapes & textures of the natural world, give me inspiration unlimited. I especially love photographing terrestrial orchids and birds. I was encouraged to engage with the natural world as a child. I devoted my camera to God at the outset and have on numerous occasions seen things beyond my wildest dreams. I like macro photography, it allows one to see details possibly unseen with the naked eye.

Don Cliff Fehlberg

Karla Bidjar Seventh-day Adventist Church

Nature has always held my heart - birds, animals, flowers - the essence of my upbringing on a Collinsvale, Tasmania farm. In 1979, I bought a camera to capture slides for my Evangelistic programs. During my work in Aboriginal ministry, I photographed our travels, , portraying both people and the awe-inspiring beauty of God's creation. These images graced the Aboriginal "Good News" magazine, calendars, and enhanced my reports, sermons, and evangelistic presentations.

Elly Lukale

Elly loves capturing the amazing tapestry of the Pilbara Colours. Living in the Pilbara now for over ten years she never gets tired of the many characters and changing moods of the landscape that surrounds her.

Viewing the world through her camera lens has allowed her to connect more deeply with nature and appreciate the intricate details of everything she sees. Living in a remote places means church is not always accessible but being out in nature, in solitude and quiet is a great place to meditate.

Kristen Edgar

Belmont Seventh-day Adventist Church

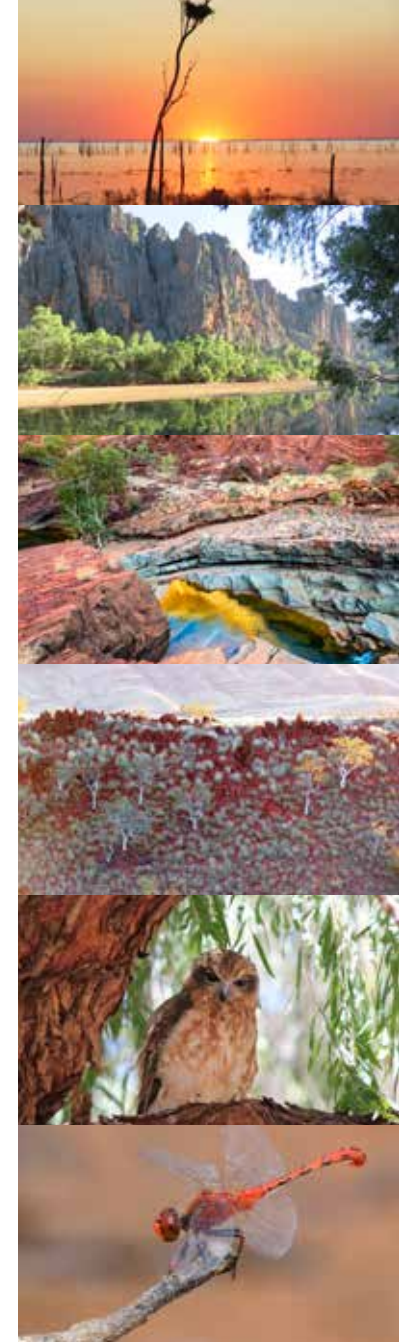

I'm 28, working as a primary school teacher, currently teaching sport and science. I have been teaching for 7 years and love inspiring the next generation of young minds. I really enjoy photography as a fun hob-by, capturing the beauty of God's wonderful creation. My greatest love is snapping photos of blossoming flowers and interesting landscapes. My camera roll is full of memories from trips down south or mini weekend getaways into nature My other hobbies include singing, reading, baking, and spending time with family and friends.

Laurie Boyle

Carmel College Seventh-day Adventist Church

I have been interested in birds all my life and photographing them since the 1970s. My photo is a Crimson Chat taken on 4 April 2015, not far from Karalundi, during a very beautiful wildflower season where many birds were nesting.

A STORY WITH A SPECIAL GUEST STORY TELLER, CRAFT & SNACK

We acknowledge our God and Saviour Jesus Christ. We acknowledge you Lord because you are the creator, provider and supreme owner of all things.

We also respectfully acknowledge the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who are the traditional custodians of this land. We pay tribute to Elders past and present and acknowledge that they have cared for this country over countless generations.

We recognise the continuing contribution that the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people make to the life of this region and pray that we can work together to leave a legacy of reconciliation, justice and hope for all future Australians.
